SUDDEN COUNTER-BLOW AGAINST A
THREE-PRONGED JAPANESE INVASION

Enemy Legions Thrown Into Reverse in India — Japs
Are Forced to Yield at Least Four Strong Positions
— Suffer Heavy Casualties

By James E. Brown

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
NEW DELHI, Mar. 24.—(INS)—Allied jungle fighters, slashing out with a sudden counter-blow against a three-pronged Japanese invasion of India, threw the enemy legions of one column into reverse today and forced them to yield at least four strong positions.

The Nipponese suffered heavy casualties in the fighting, Lord Louis Mountbatten, supreme Allied commander in this theatre, announced.

The main column of the enemy forces appeared headed for Imphal, capital of the state of Manipur and a highly important communications hub, and earlier had reached a point within some 28 miles of that city.

Two other columns also have slipped over the India-Burma frontier; one a subsidiary unit which accompanied the original detachment, and the second a strong group which attempted a surprise pincer move on Imphal.

This column's successful crossing of the frontier yesterday marked the second invasion of India within 48 hours.

New Coal and Coke Rules
Are Effective April 1st

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—The Solid Fuels Administration announced today its anthracite distribution control program for the year beginning April 1, keeping the over-all provisions of the present regulations, but adding the requirement that consumers file detailed reports with their dealers.

Under the new program, consumers are entitled to seven-eighths of their normal annual coal requirements in the form of anthracite or "eastern" coke, and may fill out the remainder with a "substitute"—bituminous coal. Of the total allowable anthracite or "eastern" coke supply, one-half may be delivered between April 1 and Oct. 1. After next Oct. 1, dealers are required to fill the needs first of those domestic consumers who have less than five days' supply on hand.

In order to get any coal at all after April 1, each consumer must file with his dealer a report of his annual requirements, the amounts and type of fuel he had on hand April 1, the number of rooms to be heated, and the type of heating equipment used. Present stocks will be deducted from the total allowable amount the consumer may receive. Consumers who buy less than one ton at a time, exclusively in bags, are not required to file a report.

Another protection against heatless homes is contained in the provision that dealers must supply "orphan" customers—householders without an established dealer relationship—on the same basis that they serve their regular customers.

BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All
In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A meeting of the Warrington Parent-Teacher Association in the school building at Warrington, was devoted entirely to the transaction of business, which included the appointment of delegates to the Bucks County Council of Parents and Teachers and the making of preparations for the election which will take place next month.

Group singing at the opening of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Marie Barton Griffin, supervisor of music in the schools of the township.

Report was made by a representative of the finance committee that a balance of $67.20 remains in the treasury. The association decided to entertain members of this year's graduating class at a dinner in the Spring, and to purchase pins for the class.

Mrs. Harry Kralik and Mrs. Samuel Frantz were appointed delegates to the county council meeting, which will be held in Doylestown on Thursday evening, April 20th.

Frank L. Worthington was officially installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Doylestown by Judge Calvin S. Boyer, a past president of the club, who presented him with the president's pin, symbolic of that office.

President Worthington succeeds the late James B. Fretz as head of the local club. He is the eighteenth president to be elected to office, but the first to be advanced from vice president to president because of a death in the club.

At a meeting of the officers and directors of the club after the dinner meeting, Frank T. Reynolds was elected vice president, and will be installed on April 4.

An appropriate resolution on the death of the late President Fretz, was read at the dinner meeting. The committee was composed of Judge Boyer, William H. Satterthwaite and W. G. Downey, Jr.

FLYERS OF MANY NATIONS ARE FED
IN RED CROSS HUTS EN ROUTE TO POSTS

First taste of American hospitality for many members of the United Nations air forces, and service with a home touch for American flyers en route to all parts of the world, is provided by Red Cross canteens, according to Mrs. Graham Dougherty, national head of the Volunteer Canteen Corps. At the request of the Army, the Red Cross now runs 24-hour canteen service at hundreds of air bases all over the country.

Coffee, sandwiches, doughnuts, cookies and other light refreshments are served to the flyers, and often local communities, provide apples, oranges and other home grown products. The service is much appreciated by the flying forces, who may drop into the bases at any hour of the day or night for a brief stop.

Covering many fields, from the National Airport, which serves the nations' capital, to others scattered all over the United States, the Canteen Corps sets up its equipment in rooms or even shacks provided by the Army, or where no suitable place is available the workers may use their mobile canteens.

DR. KOVACS ADDRESSES
NEWTOWN PARENTS

Compares Freedom in The United States With That
Which is Found in Europe

AN INTERESTING TALK

NEWTOWN, Mar. 24.—In spite of the inclemency of the weather, about 100 persons attended the meeting of the Newtown Parent-Teacher Association in the high school auditorium, where Dr. Imre Kovacs, pastor of the Hungarian Reformed Church, Phoenixville, gave an address on "The Challenge of Being an American."

Introduced by Rev. Chester J. Buzzard, president of the association, Dr. Kovacs spoke of the freedom of the people of this country enjoyed compared with the freedom of people in some of the European nations.

Born of German parentage in Panscova, Hungary, Dr. Kovacs pointed out that the freedom of the people in some of the European countries is very limited. He also commented briefly upon the Four Freedoms and what they mean to the people in this country.

Following devotions in charge of Rev. Henry J. Baker, a brief program of music was presented. This included a trombone solo by Harry Holmes, vocal solo, Naomi Henshaw, and a clarinet duet, William Gordon and William Smith.

A short talk on school activities was given by the supervising principal, Dr. Ross L. Neagley, who said an attempt is being made to improve the standards of the school. This is to be based on the criticism of the parents about the school. He announced also an evaluation of the school will be made in the Spring.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Gordon Fromm, Mrs. E. Howard Kester, Mrs. William Kenderdine and Mrs. Clinton R. Greenlee.

The next meeting of the association will be held on Monday evening, April 17, at which time Dr. Genevieve Bowen, supervisor of the elementary schools in the county, will give a talk on "Elementary Education Looks to the Future."

On the white walls of a handsome room provided by the Army at a Fort Worth, Texas, air field, hundreds of flyers, many of them from distant countries, have scribbled their autographs with red or blue pencils. Names of some of the world's most famous birdmen are there.

Not only flyers receive Red Cross canteen service, for in many places local Red Cross Canteen groups provide refreshments for train troops passing through their towns. The Canteen Corps is developing an important service on the "home front" in its school lunch programs. Red Cross workers cook and serve the lunches and see that the children of warworkers get satisfying and nourishing noonday meals.

GIVES SOLICITOR A HEARTY WELCOME

Mrs. Frank Garrigues Also

INTERESTING STORY

EDDINGTON, Mar. 24.—When Mrs. Frank Garrigues called as Red Cross solicitor at the home of Mrs. Edward J. Field, Brown Road, last Tuesday the door was opened wide and Mrs. Garrigues found herself greeted with outstretched arms, a liberal contribution and a most romantic story. Mrs. Field's husband is a major in the Persian Gulf Command. Arriving in Iran to serve at his post last fall, separated from his family for the first time became a trifle nostalgic. Sensing those he loved were a little depressed too, he felt a tangible expression of his feeling for them might help the situation. Seeking out his Red Cross field director and producing a sum of money he asked if Red Cross would help him send red roses to his wife. The request was granted. Soon the money from the major was received by Mrs. Marie Holland, regional director for this area at her office on Mill street with the necessary instructions. The roses began to arrive at their destination, a card enclosed "with love, Edward." Where the flowers came from was a complete mystery to Mrs. Field except that they were from her beloved.

This continued for ten weeks. In the meantime Mrs. Field's little daughter Barbara met with an accident. Vague word of this tragedy seeped through to the father who immediately went to his field director asking Red Cross to investigate. On Dec. 31st Mrs. Holland received a wire from Washington requesting a complete "help and welfare report" on the case. It was then Mrs. Holland met Mrs. Field. The investigation proved that Barbara has sustained a broken collar bone but all was going smoothly at the Fields residence. Mrs. Field did not mention the roses and Mrs. Holland did not disclose the source of the flowers. The favorable report was dispatched to Washington, National Red Cross, where the news was relayed through army channels to Iran that alleviated the father's great concern for his family. Shortly after this Mrs. Field about to entertain friends at a luncheon telephoned a local florist for flowers. Being the same concern that sent the roses she facetiously asked if they had any more red roses for her. Whereupon the florist solved the mystery of the red roses by saying: "Ask Mrs. Holland, of Red Cross." As Valentine's Day approached a letter arrived from Mrs. Field's husband with melancholy vein, saying this was the first Valentine's Day he would miss giving her a token of his affection and how badly he felt about it. As the 14th of February neared, Mrs. Holland thought of the small amount of cash left in the Major Field fund not enough for roses but just enough for a red heart box of chocolates. The thought was immediately executed and sent post haste to Mrs. Field who, thoroughly elated, sat down and wrote her husband that after all he had sent her a Valentine through the working of American Red Cross. DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 24.—At a meeting of the recently formed committee for instruction of the men drafted for service in the armed forces, here, it was decided that instead of having meetings of inductees at which information could be given to them, a form letter containing the essential information would be sent to them as soon as the names were announced by the Selective Service board.

The members of the committee are J. Leonard Halderman, chairman; Rev. Charles F. Freeman, Rev. John J. Fogarty, Edward W. Fell, Judge Calvin S. Boyer, Capt. George C. Butler, Capt. Daniel Atkinson, Miss Lucille Wills and Fred F. Martie.

TELLS ROTARIANS OF HIS ARMY EXPERIENCE

A. Brice Moore, Jr., Phila.,
Gives Interesting and Graphic Talk

IN 3 MAJOR BATTLES

One of the most interesting and graphic talks ever given before a meeting of the local Rotary Club was presented yesterday afternoon at the Elks' Home by A. Brice Moore, Jr., Philadelphia, who told of his experiences while serving in the United States Army.

Moore, who saw combat in three major engagements, was graduated from the Valley Forge Military Academy in 1937. Just a short time ago he was discharged from the Valley Forge Hospital with sixty per cent disability.

Married, and the father of a daughter, Moore has now entered civilian life again in a position with the Franklin Fire Insurance Company.

The speaker was drafted in 1941 and sent to Fort Meade, Md. After a few days he was made a corporal and the following week he was promoted to Staff Sergeant. After attending school he was presented with a Certificate of Proficiency in Ranger and Combat duty.

Following this training Moore was made an instructor and later was sent to the South Pacific. Among the highlights of his Army career in that theater was participation in 14 raids. He went on 123 bombings and three major battles, at Guadalcanal, Russell Islands, Rendev and Munda. He was seriously wounded from mortar fire and shrapnel while raiding Japanese pill boxes.

After he was wounded he was taken by plane to be hospitalized at New Hebrides, and later he was treated in hospitals in New Zealand, San Francisco, Cambridge, Ohio, and finally at Valley Forge.

Following his most graphic and detailed talk Moore answered many questions for members.

Leonard Cole Says He Is Having Great Experience

Leonard Cole now in the service of his country writes that he cannot tell where he is located but that he has been there just a short time.

"Before coming here I was in the invasion of the Marshall Islands. I landed in the Kwajalein Atoll on the islands of Roi and Namur. We were the first to invade part of the pre-Japanese Empire. We had a pretty tough time but I assure you as long as we have men with the spirit of the Marines in our outfit we will continue to come out on top."

"I have seen and been through some horrible yet interesting times. Since I enlisted a year ago and I have a lot to look forward to when this is over. I chalk everything up to invasion of the Marshall Islands."

Brewster To Lose
Hundreds in Draft

The Brewster Aeronautical Corp. expects 526 of its employees at Johnsville, Bucks county, to be drafted, and anticipates a loss to the draft of 1250 more at its Long Island factory. Henry J. Kaiser, president of the firm, declared in Washington yesterday.

The company will not request the deferment of any employees under 26 except technical and professional personnel, and then only in cases where their retention is considered an "absolute necessity," Mr. Kaiser said.

"In certain departments," he added, "it will not be necessary to request any deferments. Surveys are now being made both for the under-26 age group, and for those from 27 to 35."

POPULARIZER VAN LOON

New York commentators on the career of Hendrik Van Loon seem to agree that he was what they call a popularizer. The word requires some explaining as applying to what they described as Van Loon's business.

His business was to dredge into the work of true scholars, drag up what he regarded as of popular interest, relish it in easy words and with not too much regard for the exact truth, and dish it out to a knowledge-hungry public. In this business he sold 6,000,000 books. Certainly he was a successful book merchant.

A man of more modesty and less respect for good workmanship could never have done what Van Loon did. He believed that he could understand everything and he was sure that he could explain it so that anyone could understand. His faith in himself was greater than his knowledge, but that seemed to make little difference. His conceit carried conviction to his own heart and he was able to convince others.

Regardless of what the pedants say, Van Loon was not a fraud. He was near enough right in what he wrote to win the attention of millions of people. He added to their knowledge, and undoubtedly stimulated many of them to seek knowledge from original sources. He proved that a popularizer may be nearly as important as an authority.

MANNERS BOW TO WAR

Gestures of empty politeness, particularly those that inconvenience others, are the latest of peacetime amenities to be tabooed by the necessities of war, and doffing of men's hats in crowded hotel elevators is one of those empty gestures to come under fire.

Bowing to the volume of wartime business, Robert J. Glenn, general manager of New York's 30-story Hotel Governor Clinton, has sternly decreed that men no longer take off their hats when ladies are in house elevators. The men in their eagerness to be polite were unnecessarily crowding the elevators—with hats on chest, at sides or over shoulder.

Alert to the susceptibilities of his patrons, Manager Glenn felt it necessary to handle the problem diplomatically. So he decided to tip off the hotel's patrons by means of humorous drawings and jingles on posters in all elevators. Men and women guests alike responded good-naturedly to the suggestion that men keep hats on in the elevators and everybody feels more comfortable about the whole thing, Glenn says.

His method of torpeding useless etiquette has been communicated to the Hotel Association of New York. He says there are other useless politeness that can be eliminated for the sake of guest convenience. One of the jingles in the Governor Clinton's elevators reads:

*Though girls admire gallant men,
They find, in crowded spaces,
That when a man removes his hat,
His elbow's in their faces!*

The alacrity with which Titler is getting out of Russia is proof that he expects big doings elsewhere.

Man Held for Contempt of Court; Failed To Pay Fine

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 24—For contempt of court and failing to pay up his court fine and costs in a drunken driving case, William A. Mackin, 42, of 252 Kohn St., Norristown, attached to the Norristown office of the U. S. Employment Service, was brought to the Bucks County Prison on an attachment by Deputy Sheriff Harry Ross.

Mackin pleaded guilty in the county court last October to driving while drunk on Route 202 east of Doylestown, when his car ran off the highway and through a fence on the Nathan Erwin property. He escaped a prison sentence, but was fined $200 and costs.

Mackin has failed to keep up payment on his fine and costs, after promising the Court recently that he would pay on a certain date. His present debt to the county is $109.50 plus the costs of yesterday's attachment.

When taken into custody by Sheriff Ross, Mackin explained that "the woman he was going to borrow the money from for a March 14 payment, needed the money to pay her income tax."

Today's Quiet Moment (By the Rev. James R. Galley) Pastor

Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God, our Father, we thank Thee for Jesus Christ our Lord; for His consciousness of Thee which He has revealed unto us. We thank Thee that faith in Him and the reception of His Spirit and the adoption of His life principles make real to us the same divine principles and life that was so real and vital to Him. Forgive us for ever tainting our lives by sin, for living within the narrow confines of our own desires, for failing to realize the largeness of the great spiritual life around us, for keeping aloof from any part of human life, and for devoting our energies and time to the sinful or lesser life objectives. Guide us in Thy Way through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RITZ THEATRE

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland are teamed together for the eighth time in Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's lilt-ing filmation of the smash Broadway hit of a few seasons ago, "Girl Crazy," now playing at the Ritz Theatre.

The original Gershwin score is retained and played by none other than Tommy Dorsey and his band. Judy sings the favorites, "Bidin' My Time" and "Embraceable You" among many others, and dances two production numbers, proving the young singer is fast becoming one of the best dancers on the screen today.

The expertly screened battle sequences, the tense dramatic interludes, the moments of comedy and the contrasting moments of tense suspense all combine to round out a service picture which ranks among the most spectacular ever filmed in Hollywood.

now at the Grand Theatre, presents Richard Dix in the role of a sea captain suspected of creating a reign of terror aboard his vessel while posing as a calm and conscientious officer. The role is a new one for Dix, and on his suspenseful portrayal hangs much of the story's effect.

The action begins when young

SPARROWS OUT OF PLAYOFFS, LEAGUE OF GIRLS' TEAMS

Local Team Loses To The Majorettes Despite Strong Second-Half Finish

FINAL SCORE, 32 TO 31

Fleetwings Trailing by 13 Points at End of Half-Time of Game

TRENTON, Mar. 24—Despite a strong second half finish, the Fleetwings Sparrows were eliminated from the playoffs of the Trenton Girls' League when they lost to the Majorettes, 32-31, on the Junior No. 4 floor.

The Fleetwings were trailing by 13 points at half time but rolled in 11 points in the third quarter and added 10 more in the final period while the guards were holding the Trenton team to 9 points.

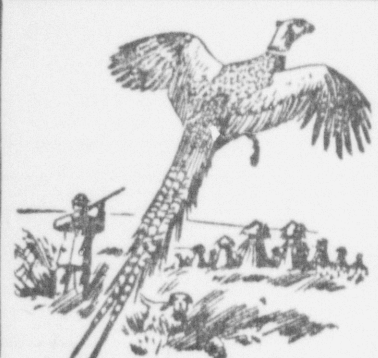

All hopes for the Sparrows' victory went to pieces in the last minute of play when the Majorettes staged a beautiful exhibition of "freezing" the ball and maintaining their slim edge of a single point.

Juanita Hayes had 11 points to lead the Fleetwings with Ethel Linck and Betty Duffy getting nine each. Parsons and Byrnes scored 24 of the winners' points.

By JOE ELBERSON

Catfish are moving . . . according to young Paul Gerhart, Bensalem Township. He caught his first one last Saturday in the Neshaminy Creek. Has taken several "channel catfish" since then. Paul, who is just 13 years old, plans a real season's fishing this year with the acquisition of a beautiful new delicately tapered fly rod. Yes, he has an automatic fly reel to complete his outfit.

Carp fishermen are also beginning to make their appearance along the Neshaminy. Saw several along this stretch last week at Bridgewater, Jones' Beach, and Powell's Landing.

Tough shooting . . . at Langhorne last Sunday morning when the boys were trying to keep their trigger fingers from freezing during the blue rock-sket matches.

Tentative hunting dates recently set by the Pennsylvania Game Commission for the 1944 season:

Woodcock, October 7th to October 31st (subject to Federal approval).
Waterfowl, October 1st to December 20th (subject to Federal approval).

Last season Pennsylvania was placed in the Northern Zone for migratory waterfowl and the season closed just about the time the light ducks were moving in. Season closed on December 3rd. If the season is extended to December 20th it will mean that duck hunters will probably get some shooting other than at native mallard and blacks.

Sucker fishing . . . some local fishermen have reported good catches during the past ten days, but they weren't biting Wednesday evening when Joe Smith and I went out to Hulmeville Dam in the Neshaminy. We didn't start fishing until about 7 p. m. Fished right up to dark. Neither one of us got a nibble. Had some choice worms for bait, too!

Plenty of water coming over the dam now. Joe and I walked across the top of the dam and the force of the water made our footing a little uncertain. Saw several fellows fishing downstream from the dam. They were experiencing the same luck as we had.

Kaiser Contracts For First Peace-Time Job

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—Henry J. Kaiser, the almost legendary giant of wartime production, announced his first "peacetime" contract today and outlined his vision of a post-war America producing to the full capacity of its war-swollen industrial power.

The contract will be signed with The Netherlands Indies Government for the construction of 30 shallow draft cargo vessels designed for commerce between the Dutch islands in the Southwest Pacific when they have been recaptured from the Japs, Mr. Kaiser said.

He indicated that construction of the ships would begin at his No. 4 shipyard in Richmond, Cal., this year, and that they would have a wartime use as well. None of his U. S. production will be hurt, he said.

However, he said that this contract would represent the start in gradual conversion of his far-flung enterprises to peacetime production, "and this is only the beginning."

Cutbacks in war contracts are permitting stockpiles of material to appear, Mr. Kaiser said, and the manpower will be found. He conceded that some difficulty with Government material and manpower controls would probably result, but "the War Production Board can't cause unemployment," he said.

Mr. Kaiser declared that "with the same kind of leadership which made this country what it is today," full post-war employment can be achieved, "and there is nothing I'm so keenly interested in as that."
